LEFT HIGH AND DRY—The Wabash River rose to flood height, froze and then receded, leaving this large chunk of ice hanging on a slender sapling in Wabash, Ind. In two days, the river dropped five feet from a 25-foot crest, highest since 1913. In background is the Wabash Water Corporation pumping station where employees and volunteers worked 48 hours with sandbags and portable pumps to keep the flood from contaminating the city's water supply. Their efforts were successful.

Poultry Farmer To Give Up U.S.

Government Controls Anger Michigan Man

DOWAGIAC, Mich. (AP) — A "for sale" sign has gone up on the farm of wheat rebel Stanley Yankus. The poultry farmer who decided to give up farming a month ago decided Friday to give up the United States.

Yankus, 39, one of Cass County's largest poultry farm operators, says he is "tired of beating my head against a stone wall" in a long fight against government wheat controls and is heading for Australia and a new start.

Since 1953, Yankus, married and the father of three children, has been fighting the government wheat acreage allotment program. He estimates he still owes about $2,600 in fines and penalties for growing more than the allotted wheat quota on his 100-acre farm near this southwestern Michigan community.

The government claimed about $1,700 of Yankus' bank account a year ago to settle part of the penalties. The farmer said he has asked the government to bill him as soon as possible for the rest.

"I'm infuriated by these actions and I'm going to leave the country because of them," Yankus said as he set the "for sale" sign in his front yard. Yankus has contended that wheat grown on his farm was used for feeding his poultry, not commercially. He sells about 53,000 dozen eggs a year.

Senate Group Widens Probe Of Jukeboxes

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Labor-Management Committee today widened its investigation of an alleged Chicago gangland plot involving cut rate counterfeit photograph records.

Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) ordered men accused of the conspiracy brought in for questioning when the hearings resume Tuesday.

The story of the counterfeiting boomed up Friday in testimony that a combine of mobsters and corrupt labor union officials has run a $100,000 a year shakedown racket against Chicago jukebox operators using terrorists to enforce demands.

The committee has charged that jukebox racketeering in Chicago and New York are part of a nationwide conspiracy by underworld figures and some top labor union officials to dominate the coin machine industry.

Ted Spiora, charging that competition backed by gangsters has ruined his Chicago record whole saling business, swore that counterfeit records became part and parcel of these manipulations.

He said this involved the making of low cost reproductions of the product of reputable recording firms.

He said the counterfeiting was done in Cincinnati, Ohio, but that when one of those involved was caught the man was merely fined $50 in a Cook County (Chicago) court.

Benson Eyes More Controls On Wheat

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ohio farmers by the thousands have complained for years about controls in the government's wheat program. Some have even gone to court for defying them.

Navy Arranges Sea Cruise for Union Leaders

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — The U.S. Navy arranged to take AFL-CIO leaders on a cruise off Puerto Rico today aboard the missile-firing cruiser Benson.

The labor chiefs are in recess for the weekend, their winter meeting is due to resume Monday. The AFL-CIO Council postponed action Friday on a proposal to suspend Maurice H. Hucheson, president of the 850,000-member Carpenters' Union, from the council.

The council decided to let Hucheson, now under indictment in an Indian highway land scandal, continue a self-imposed exile from the AFL-CIO Council.

James M. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical Workers presented the council with a motion to suspend Hucheson immediately as an AFL-CIO vice president and member of the council.

But the council finally approved a proposal by George Meany, AFL-CIO president, to receive a letter from Hucheson disclaiming any misuse of union funds and pledging to adhere to AFL-CIO ethical practice codes.

One of the factors the council had to consider was Hucheson's threat to pull his union out of the AFL-CIO. The labor leaders do not want to lose another big union, as happened when the Teamsters' Union was expelled on charges of corruption in 1957.

President Home From Visit With Adolfo Mateos

$100 Million Dam On Border River Result of Confab

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — President Eisenhower flew home today, his friendship visit to Mexican President Adolfo Lopez Mateos climaxed by agreement that a 100-million-dollar dam should be jointly built on the Rio Grande.

The project — known as the Diablo Dam — has been in the talking stage for 10 years. Now the U.S. Congress must appropriate funds and Mexico must figure out how to finance its share.

The over-all impression of Eisenhower's two-day goodwill visit was that relations between the two countries had been cemented as never before.

A communique issued after five hours of talks between the two presidents "reconfirmed that relations between Mexico and the United States are excellent and are characterized by a spirit of good neighborliness, mutual understanding and respect."

The communique said "The Acapulco meeting was a meeting between friends. The two presidents understood and appreciated each other from the beginning. They are determined to continue to collaborate on matters of mutual concern through their governments and through international organizations."

During their talks they ranged over a number of issues affecting the two nations. But both U.S. and Mexican observers felt the visit has done much to do away with old resentments.

The thousands of Mexicans who turned out to welcome Eisenhower applauded him and continued to do so throughout his activities at this tourist-packed tropical resort city.

A communique also expressed the leaders' agreement that

Second Treatment Scheduled for Dulles

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State John Foster Dulles goes back today to the concrete and lead X-ray chamber in Walter Reed Medical Center for his second massive radiation treatment for cancer.

It soon will be a familiar journey.

Present plans call for treatments every day, except Sunday, under the hospital's million volt X-ray machine for possible three or four weeks.

At the end of that period doctors may be able to say whether Dulles can return to his State Department desk.

Dulles, who will be 72 next Wednesday, apparently held up well after Friday's first treatment for abdominal cancer.

"Treatment was well tolerated," said a medical bulletin issued by Lincoln White, State Department press officer.

This meant, White said, that Dulles was not sickened as is the case with some people who undergo heavy G-ray treatments.

Nepotism Returns To Government Positions

WASHINGTON (AP) — As it does almost every year, nepotism today attracted a spotlight on Capitol Hill.

The ancient political practice of giving government jobs to relatives receives attention annually when the House of Representatives reveals its office payroll.

This year's records show that at least six of the 82 new House members have their wives on the payrolls. The wives' salaries range from $4,047 to $13,344 a year.

In addition Rep. Steven V. Carter (D-Iowa), a freshman congressman, hired his 19-year-old son, a freshman college student, as an $11,000-a-year assistant.

The Senate refuses to open its payroll records to public scrutiny. Any nepotism there usually is a secret. The congressmen's justification

COMING DOWN The sky is dotted with floating paratroopers in a mass drop to battle a theoretical aggressor force menacing the Panama Canal. Approximately 1,300 paratroopers took part in the jump at Rio Hato, Panama, from planes flying 2,000 miles from a U.S. Base in Exercise Banyan Tree. All the paratroopers are from the 2nd Airborne Group, 501st Infantry, flown from Ft. Bragg, N.C. Six of the men were injured and another presumably leaped prematurely and fell into the sea.

3 Persons Hurt In Road Mishaps

Two Are Admitted To Area Hospitals

Three persons were injured in two accidents investigated by the State Highway Patrol on district roads in the last 24 hours.

Patrolmen report that an auto driven by James M. Todd, 18, of RD 1 Lisbon went out of control and crashed into a tree on the old Steubenville Road, three and a half miles south of Lisbon, at 3:30 this morning.

The car, traveling at a high rate of speed, skidded on the ice-covered roadway, went off the left side of the road and swerved back across the highway to ram into the tree, according to patrolmen.

Todd's wife, Barbara, 17, a passenger in the car, suffered a fractured right leg and contusions of the head. She is reported in fair condition in Salem City Hospital.

Todd sustained lacerations of the lower lip and four chipped teeth. He was treated at the hospital and released.

Todd was arrested for reckless driving, patrolmen said.

Patrolmen of the Canfield barracks reported two accidents involving a truck-trailer unequipped with tail lights on Rt. 18, two and a half miles west of North Jackson, at 7:15 p.m. Friday.

An auto driven by William E. Meadows, 48, of Youngstown swerved to avoid ramming the rear of the unlighted rig operated by Charles W. Platt, 40, of Newton Falls, and went off the left side of the road and rolled over.

Pittatt witnessed the mishap in his rear-view mirror and stopped to aid Meadows. As he halted, a car driven by Frank Creque, 63, of Lake Milton, crashed into the rear of the truck.

Creque suffered several broken ribs and abrasions of the forehead. He was taken to Youngstown South Side Hospital where he is reported in serious condition today.

Platt was arrested for operating a vehicle unequipped with tail lights.

The girls will leave pre-addressed reply envelopes at homes whose occupants are away.

Headquarters for the drive will be located in the basement of the Farmers National Bank, where the girls and their drivers will return for refreshments after the canvass is complete.

Mrs. Doris Flack will be in charge of the Girl Scouts, and John Herman will serve as dispatcher.

Drivers will be furnished by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and other interested citizens.

A "Tag Day" will be conducted next week by the Y-Teens under the direction of Mrs. F. E. Cope.

Shah of Iran Signs Agreement With U.S.

TEHRAN, Iran (AP) — The Shah of Iran told a news conference today Iran will go ahead and sign a bilateral agreement with the United States.

The Shah added that Iran will not change its policy towards the West and will sign a military pact agreement with the United States for precautionary measures.

He added that Iran will not invoke this military agreement unless attacked.

The Shah emphasized that Iran will not give any missile base to any foreign country. Besides, he added: no one has asked Iran for such a base.

Referring to Moscow radio's anti-Iran propaganda, the Shah said that in spite of Soviet claims that his Iranian regime is not popular with the Iranian people, "I am sure our regime will survive to attend the funeral of many other regimes."

Commenting on Iran-Soviet relations, the Shah told newsmen Iran will still continue a peace-loving policy and is willing to continue its friendly relations with all neighbors.

He did not mention the recent Iran-Soviet negotiations for the conclusion of a nonaggression pact, which failed in mid-February.

Freezing Winds Push Southward

Mercury Tumbles Throughout Midwest

By The Associated Press
Dixie shivered today as a massive frigid blast clasped a tighter grip on the eastern two-thirds of the nation.

Clear sunny skies generally belied the biting cold thrust that plunged the mercury below freezing in many Southern states.

The weather map showed a slight warming, little comfort for numbed residents along the northern tier of states, and some rainfall, particularly in the Pacific Northwest and southern Texas.

The southward push of cold air tumbled the mercury to 31 at Mobile and 29 in Montgomery, Ala. Baton Rouge, La., teetered at the freezing mark with an early morning 33.

Charleston, S.C. was cooled by a 27 while Memphis, Tenn., reported 20. To the south, Jacksonville, Fla. had a 38. Florida also reported the nation's warmest spot with a 70 at Key West.

Temperatures in the teens ruled a broad area extending from the Central Plains through the Great Lakes to the Atlantic seaboard.

A few communities across Montana and the Dakotas caught below zero treatment. Glasgow, Mont. had -13.

It was also cold along the Pacific Northwest where a flow of cold air dumped readings into the 40s and high 30s during the early morning hours.

Heaviest overnight rain, mixed with snow in the mountains, occurred along the Oregon coastline and northern and central California. Rain gauges in these sections recorded at least a half inch of rain in a six-hour overnight period in several communities. Point Piedras, Calif. had at least .62 in precipitation.

Future nuclear thrust, he said, probably will be needed chiefly for very large payloads and "most distant goals."

His predictions came after some senators questioned the wisdom of spending hundreds of millions or billions of dollars developing and expanding chemical fuel space engines if nuclear power may be available within a few years.

D. D. Wyatt, assistant to the director of NASA's Office of Space Flight Development stressed in his testimony the importance of space guidance.

He said that without perfect guidance, the future spaceman may get lost in outer space and just float around.

Wyatt said NASA now has plans for a permanent space laboratory and flights to the moon and other planets and back. These will follow the first man in space flight for which definite designs and contracts have been let, he said.

NASA officials concluded two days of public testimony before a Senate Space subcommittee with a secret session. They seek approval for spending an additional $48,354,000 on civilian space efforts before July 1 and $405,300,000 in the following 12 months.

Macmillan to Begin Confabs In Russian Capital

Red Carpet Is Out At Moscow Airport For Allied Leaders

MOSCOW (AP) — British Prime Minister Macmillan flew into Moscow today with a smile, a gentle dig at his host, and a fur hat that wowed the Russians.

Premier Khrushchev welcomed him to the Soviet Union with a speech full of friendly sentiment and expressing hope for "a useful exchange of views."

Macmillan and his foreign minister, Selwyn Lloyd, got a red carpet reception upon their arrival for talks they hope will ease world tensions.

"I do not come to negotiate on particular subjects," Macmillan said. "I do hope, however that in our talks together we shall at least reach a better understanding of our points of view."

"Perhaps in this way our visit may help to alleviate some of the cares that at present bring anxiety to the world."

He recalled that his previous visit to the Soviet Union was 30 years ago as an ordinary tourist.

"I think," he added "that I will see as many changes in the Soviet Union as there have been in England since the picture painted by Dickens."

"This was a slyly inserted reference to the wide sale in the Soviet Union of novels by Charles Dickens which criticized social conditions in England in the last century. It was Macmillan's way of pointing out that Russian leaders think Dickens' stories reflect present day English life."

At one point in his Vnukovo Airport reception Macmillan walked over to Soviet spectators standing silently in a roped-off enclosure and greeted them. They burst into applause.

Off came Macmillan's light gray fur hat in response. The crowd

Atomic Thrust Is Needed for Big Payloads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Nuclear powered engines apparently will not replace chemical thrust for missiles for several years, a space expert says.

Dr. Hugh Dryden, deputy administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told Congress Friday the Atomic Energy Commission believes it will be 5 to 10 years before nuclear missile engines are ready.

Future nuclear thrust, he said, probably will be needed chiefly for very large payloads and "most distant goals."

His predictions came after some senators questioned the wisdom of spending hundreds of millions or billions of dollars developing and expanding chemical fuel space engines if nuclear power may be available within a few years.

D. D. Wyatt, assistant to the director of NASA's Office of Space Flight Development stressed in his testimony the importance of space guidance.

Justice Warren Quits Bar Group

Head of High Court
Member 28 Years

CHICAGO (AP) — The board of governors of the American Bar Assn. Friday night accepted the resignation of Chief Justice Earl Warren from the group.

Warren, 67, the 14th chief justice of the United States, had been a member of the ABA for 28 years.

In a brief statement, Ross L. Malone of Roswell, N. M., association president, said:

"The resignation of Chief Justice Earl Warren as a member of the American Bar Assn. was accepted today by the board of governors of the association.

"The termination of membership was in no way related to dues. The chief justice has assured me that he will cooperate with the association as he has done in the past."

Malone did not elaborate. The reference to dues in the statement apparently was in answer to earlier reports that the ABA had dropped Warren from its roles for nonpayment of dues.

In Washington, an aide to Warren said there would be no comment from Warren.

Although Warren said he resigned from the bar group in 1957, an ABA spokesman said a letter of resignation was not received from the chief justice.

In the summer of 1957 the ABA meeting in London approved a report sharply criticizing Supreme Court decisions and called for new legislation to tighten what it called loopholes in the laws dealing with Communists.

Warren attended the convention and was reported by other delegates as annoyed that the report was endorsed without any outspoken opposition.

Joseph D. Stecher, executive director of the ABA, said he received a letter early in January from Warren, informing him he had submitted his resignation in the fall of 1957.

The board of governors' action was based on Warren's January letter. The letter gave no reason for the resignation.

Engineer Holds Train To Clean Front Window

NEW YORK (AP) — A spokesman for the New Haven Railroad says an engineer showed "lack of spirit" in holding up a train carrying 1,000 homebound commuters while a workman was found to clean the dirty window of the locomotive cab.

The train was held up for 23 minutes here Friday until a workman of the proper classification was found to do the job.

The engineer was within his rights, said the railroad spokesman, but when it was evident the train, bound for fashionable Westchester County, would be delayed, he added, the engineer should have cleaned the window himself. No action was planned against the engineer.

Conquest of Cancer Is Foreseeable

Enormous effort and vast sums of money are now going into research on cancer. Thousands of articles reporting this research are published each year in the medical journals. It now seems clear, I think, that the conquest of this great killer has come into the range of the foreseeable future.

In a brief discussion of this subject, it is possible to mention only a few highlights.

FIRST, it should be pointed out that cancer consists essentially of certain cells of the body becoming abnormal and growing wild instead of behaving as normal cells do. Thus one line of research is aimed at trying to find out what causes these cells to start behaving in this peculiar fashion.

At the present time there are clues being followed up from studies of heredity, from external factors such as tars or chemicals in tobacco or smog and from chemical or hormonal influences within the human body. There are other possible causative factors, such as viruses within the cells.

IF THE CAUSE or causes of

NEW DESIGN — The familiar surgeons gauze mask will soon be replaced in many hospitals by this new plastic mask. Designed by Dr. Claude R. Hitchcock and Dr. Joseph Kiser of Minneapolis General Hospital, the mask combines comfort with effective trapping of airborne bacteria. A removable, highly absorbent filter placed in the front of the mask filters the surgeons' breath. Air is inhaled through the side vents.

cancer can be pinpointed, it may be possible to develop preventive measures. But there is also need to discover tests or other methods whereby cancer anywhere can be identified early. Even with our present day available methods of treatment cancer can frequently be stopped in its tracks. So research goes on along these lines also.

Possibly the most exciting research is that being conducted on the difference between cancer cells and normal cells. There are such differences, many of which have already been identified.

It therefore seems possible that by further study a chemical or other substance may be found which will destroy the cancer cells so that they can no longer grow.

Indeed, in this area of research there have already been some exciting and promising developments though there are still some enormously difficult problems to surmount.

PENDING THE TIME when new and more effective methods of prevention and treatment can be developed, cancer must be attacked by ever increasing efforts to make a diagnosis early and to use those methods already available.

These are removal of the cancer tissue by surgery, and treatment by some form of radioactivity. One must add now to these methods, chemical treatments in some forms of the disease and sometimes glandular surgery or hormone treatment.

Preventive Dentistry Always Best

(Last of a Series)

Today's children can look forward to keeping their own natural teeth as long as they live — if they and their parents want to.

Dentists know how to prevent most decay and other dental diseases that cause tooth loss. But the dentist can't do it alone; his patient has to cooperate.

There's the matter of diet. The foods one should eat for general health are adequate for dental health too. But of equal importance are the foods one should not eat.

These foods are the ones containing sugar. Americans consume 10 times as much sugar per person as their great-grandfathers did, at least three times as much as they need for energy requirements.

This sugar is used as food by acid-producing bacteria in the mouth. The acid produced attacks the enamel of the teeth. Eventually it eats a small hole in the enamel, the beginning of decay.

Substitution of fresh fruits and vegetables for many sugar-containing foods, especially between-meal snacks, has three advantages: Such foods are better for general health. Eating less sugar causes a reduction in the number of acid-producing bacteria in the mouth. Many fruits and vegetables act as natural toothbrushes.

Brushing after each meal and between-meal snack is important, too. This removes food debris that otherwise might be lodged in crevices between the teeth. When a toothbrush isn't handy, it's a good idea to rinse one's mouth thoroughly with water.

Periodic visits to the dentist who can discover and treat small defects promptly, will prevent serious trouble later.

Fluoridated water (or where that is not available, fluoride treatments) is one of the most important means of preventing decay. With that as a basis, and remembering the importance of diet, brushing and regular visits to the dentist, a child except in rare instances can build healthy teeth that will remain in his mouth as long as he lives.

IDAHO BAN REPEALED

BOISE, Idaho (AP) — The Legislature has repealed the state's ban on interracial marriages. The measure has gone to Gov. Robert E. Smylie for his signature.

An old law which prohibited marriages of whites with mongolians, Negroes or mulattoes.

Idaho Record Spinner Eyes Sleepless Record

IDAHO FALLS, Idaho (AP) — Disc jockey Ray Bridges, 24, held court in a downtown store window here today in the waning stages of his effort to spin records 232 hours without sleep.

He said he passed his 214th hour without even a catnap at midnight Friday and hopes to keep going until 4 p.m. today.

Bridges is conducting the wake-up for radio station KID and the Heart Fund.

George Washington, Self-Made Man

The theme of the Virginia aristocrat who left the security of a Virginia estate to fight for American independence has been repeated so often in tributes to George Washington that it has obscured what would have been a more inspiring theme.

As a young man, Washington had fewer advantages than the lowliest of his countrymen were to enjoy in future generations. He received very little formal education. During his duties as a surveyor, messenger and frontier fighter he endured hardships that have no present-day counterparts.

He floundered in swamps skirmished for his life with hostile Indians, risked his health through exposure and bouts with disease and went for months at a time without sleeping under a roof or eating a decent meal. At one time while accompanying Gen. Braddock, he had two horses shot from under him and narrowly missed death from four bullets that penetrated his coat.

He endured the arrogance and stupidity of his British superiors on innumerable occasions. The great man who became the hero of the American Revolution and the first president of the United States was not born great; he achieved his stature by sacrifice unusual even in his day.

He overcame his lack of formal education by tireless observation and reading. He proved his capacity for leadership by catch-as-catch-can survival in a frontier wilderness. He never cultivated his tastes for music and art until his adult years. He was a self-made man.

His family background bestowed nothing on him that he could use in his career, except an obligation to serve his fellowmen. He created everything that was to be of use to him at the climax of his life, including the knowledge of management that kept Mount Vernon, with its many dependents, from falling into ruin.

He was 27 years old before he began the phase of his life that gave rise to the legend of the Virginia aristocrat. In his early '40s he undertook the leadership of the untrained, undisciplined and unequipped Continentals who were to become the heroes of the American Revolution.

But there were no heroes then only rebels like George Washington who had learned to hate oppression so much they were willing to make any sacrifice for freedom. They were self-made men, forged on the anvil of self-reliance in a country where even the well born shared the hardships of the poor. And George Washington had earned the right to be their leader.

In Fairness to One and All

The fair employment practices bill co-sponsored by Sen. Ed Witmer of Canton and Sen. Charles J. Carney of Youngstown has passed the Ohio Senate 25-6 and stands a good chance of passage in the House.

Ohio is within easy voting distance of having a FEP law, a goal that has been sought for a long time in this state. If it is attained an important change will have been made in the circumstances of employment.

Every employer in the state will be potentially in a crossfire of pressure from a law that says he must not discriminate in his employment policies because of race, color, religion and national origin and pressure from those who want to make him discriminate on these grounds.

Relatively few employers personally harbor the prejudices that have been reflected in employment practices. They usually have reflected no prejudice, his own or anyone else, their customers. An FEP law expresses a legislative resolution that the employer should regard no prejudice, his own or anyone else. Thus, it has the effect of putting all employers on guard, and to that extent FEP laws have been successful. It has been the experience of states that have had them in effect for some time that they do have the effect of getting rid of discrimination, mainly because no employer wants to be accused of discrimination.

It is to be noted in this respect that the language of the law is broad. A white job applicant could not legally be discriminated against by a Negro employer, nor could a Negro applicant legally be denied employment, on the basis of color. An American of American parentage going back to the Mayflower could not be discriminated against by some other American of more recent foreign origin. A non-religionist would have as much grounds for complaint if denied employment as a religionist who felt he had been discriminated against because of his religion.

This is the ultimate test of a good law — that it should apply with equal force to one and all. Otherwise, it was not framed and cannot be enforced in good faith and is a bad law.

High-Level Topic At Acapulco

The remarkable thing about the meeting between President Eisenhower and President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico this week is that no one knows why they decided to meet, and it is unlikely anyone will know what they talked about.

There is, nevertheless, plenty to talk about in high-level conversations between the presidents of the United States and Mexico. Mexicans who come to the United States to hire out as farm labor, for example.

They have had a heavy impact on the farm economy of the United States. In California, Texas and Arizona, agriculture had learned to depend on them heavily by the mid-war years. By 1951, the government of Mexico was ready to make an agreement with the government of the United States to send its nationals to this country to live in work camps. As many as half a million Mexicans are involved in this practice. Some come to the United States legally; some come here illegally.

But once they are here all of them lend themselves to some of the most backward employment practices and working conditions to be found in the civilized world. Their plight is a disgrace to the United States, which lets them come in, and to Mexico, which lets them leave.

One of the things that might be talked about profitably at Acapulco is whether two governments that exist by the consent of their sovereign people can afford to be parties to a contract that permits the exploitation of human beings. These workers are not covered by welfare and labor-protection laws. The wage-hour provisions do not apply to them. Child labor laws are ignored widely. Regulations for safety and comfort are neglected. The workers are pretty to all varieties of official and unofficial avarice.

Acapulco is a heavenly place, reportedly. But if the topic of the exploitation of impoverished Mexicans who come to the United States to subsidize U. S. agriculture with their misery and defenselessness comes up, all the sunshine will be forgotten.

It's mighty easy to scowl and complain your way out of a lot of friendships.

The expression "There's nothing new under the sun" sounds fine until a baby is born.

Your disposition might as well give up these days. It's no match for flu and frost-bitten ears.

Talking to one's self is not an indication of insanity, just a sign of income tax time.

It proves you really stand for something when you fall for contributing to a worthy drive.

Once Over

Linda Darnell says hypnotism enabled her to give top performance in recent play. Her press agent hasn't said whether he owes anything to Svengali or not.

Linda says a Hollywood mesmerizer put her into peak form for concentration on the script and made it easy compared to what it might have been if nobody had fixed her with a stern stare and said, "Let yourself go. . . . You're even better than your press notices. . . . Relax!

No first-night critics can stop you. . . . Sleep well and await the morning reviews."

Dr. Z. Moonstruck Booboo, our own hypnotist, says a hypnotist's place is in show box. "Of course there are performers who are so self-confident they can hypnotize the hypnotist before he gets into his act," he said.

"Then, too many actors or actresses will bring their publicity agents to the office. This requires that the hypnotist bring a public relations staff in self defense.

"It's tough work, but I have great success through just gazing into a performer's eyes, slowly waving a hand across his or her egotism and saying, 'You're magnificent, stupendous and colossal.'"

"At this point I applaud loudly. This soothes them into a pliable stupor. Now I read a recording of their clippings. They become completely nonresistant. I ask, 'Are you unconscious?' They generally reply, 'If I ain't don't change the routine.'"

A WOMAN who had too many drinks held up a bank just to see how easy it was. Couldn't the bank teller have handed her $100 and asked, "What do you want for a chaser?"

Ike wants Jimmy Stewart made a brigadier general. It's okay with most folks provided he makes Bob Hope a rear admiral and puts Red Skelton in charge of Cape Canaveral.

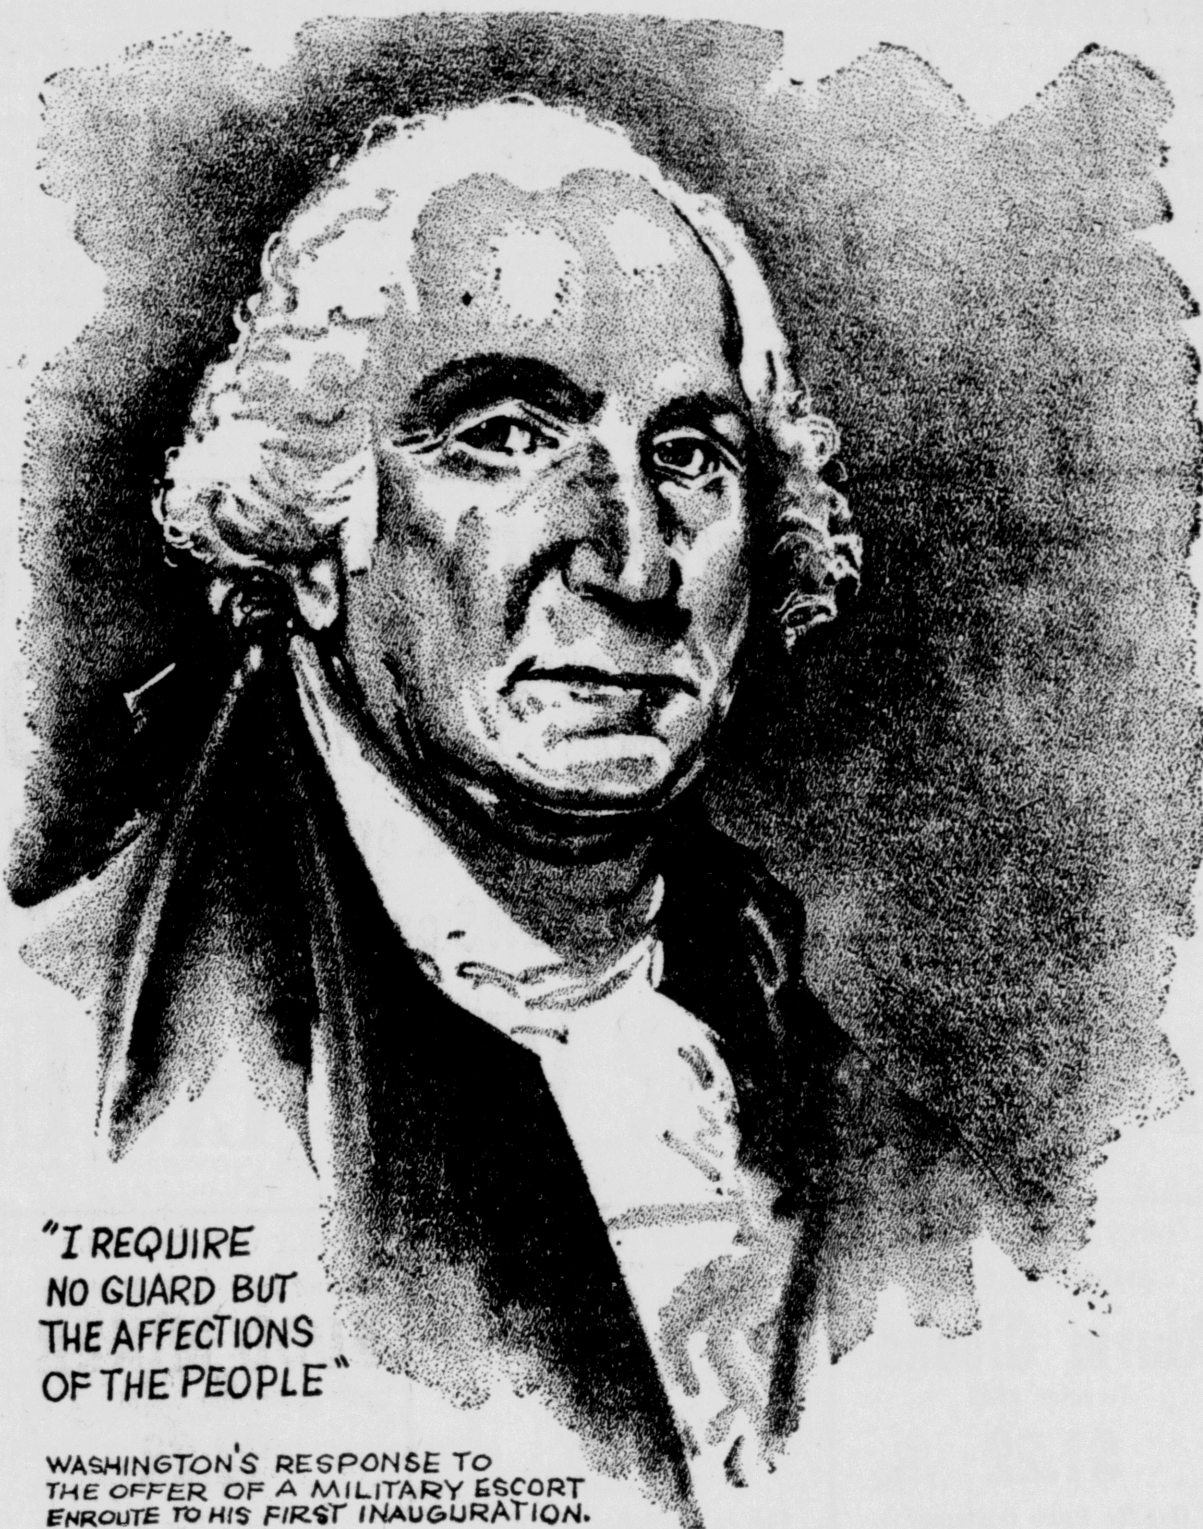

Believe it or not, "Wagon Train" and other "westerns" about the rugged days of pioneer travels across the prairies have "Hair Stylists."

Epitaph for Mike Berger, famed New York Times writer: "Here lie the ashes of a great reporter; a man who born to underprivilege, accepted it without complaint and struggled to the heights of his profession. His spirit, restless and indomitable, searches, even in the hereafter, for the story of the everlasting life."

The True Strength of Democracy

Romanian Exodus

By RALPH MCGILL

ATLANTA

For a few minutes I found myself seated in a secluded corner with Gen. Meir Alan, one of the Israeli army's chiefs of staff. He had a considerable part, for example, in the quick defeat of the Egyptian army about three years ago.

We talked about the puzzle of the sudden and unexpected decision by the Soviet Union to allow about 100,000 Romanian Jews to go to Israel. Communism had not been able to assimilate them into the Marxist state. Until this break, the Russians always had insisted that Communism created a paradise none wished to quit.

"The cost impact is, of course, terrific," said Gen. Alan. "Think what it would mean to any state in this great rich country suddenly to be confronted with 170,000 men, women and children for whom it must find locations, housing and jobs and schools for the young."

"But," he said, "it is also riches for us. The reason that Israel was able to become a nation was because there had come to her artisans, peasants, carpenters, toolmakers, laborers, machinists, teachers, as well as scientists, architects, scholars, artists, designer and young people to be trained.

"FOR EXAMPLE," he said, "I went to one of the receiving camps for Romanians. There were 60 doctors there. These, of course, were not all who came. But that number is about what an average medical school would graduate in a year. But it means we can have a doctor at every village, and that our medical students will have richly varied teaching."

"Already," he continued, "Ghana and other African nations are turning to us for trade and technical assistance. We will be able to say to some: 'We can send you a doctor as well as engineers and technicians.'"

"The Romanians are hard workers," he continued. "Their peasants and their laborers are used to toil. They will bring that to us. The cost is great in money, construction, food and care. It will take us a good while to absorb them into the community and national life. But we will. Israel is receiving the sort of riches that America did in its early life when so many different nationalities came to it, eager to work and find a place they could call their own."

Mister Squeaker

By TRUMAN TWILL

These so-called scientists keep scaring me half out of my so-called wits. They are talking now about putting space travelers into "frozen sleep" for long journeys into space that may last many lifetimes.

We've always known that no good would come of cold-storage turkeys. My mother was right when she looked at their "arrested development" with a jaundiced eye. It isn't fittin' that men should fool around with nature, she thought.

But men are doing it. This very minute, they're getting ready to freeze mice at the University of California in Los Angeles, to see what luck they have in bringing them back to life after chilling them down to 100 degrees below zero.

Does it make you feel spooky, too, when you think a frozen mouse might be warmed up and returned to life after an aeon or two, out of place and time — and when you think this is only the prelude to fooling with people?

But that is long-range worrying for so-called scientists. What bugs some of us low-voltage worriers is simpler. It is the fear of a slip-up in experiments with the lower animals.

Right now for all the scientists know that little monkey they poofed into space is up there somewhere receiving the Very Important Personage treatment as the first visitor from Earth. They never got him back, nor did they ever locate the remains of the rocket he was fired in.

Take a frozen mouse. Suppose the scientists get carried away by their little - boy enthusiasm for whamming all sorts of things into the blue and wham up a mouse, just to see what will happen. Then suppose the mouse, thanks to hocus pocus with interplanetary magnetic fields and a lot of other scientific jazz goes whooshing all the way to Venus, where the natives would thaw out the poor little fellow and interview him.

"Mister Squeaker," they will inquire, "what do you think of the women here on Venus?"

Naturally, the dunn little galoot will not know what the Venusians are talking about. He will think, maybe, they are asking him about mice. So he lashes his little tail and rolls his little eyes. And the Venusians will think he is gadding himself into a frenzy and thinking about co-education or something equally subversive and hurtful to good moral fiber in their society and first thing we'll know there will be a war going on with the Venusians.

All because some dumb mouse doesn't know the language. No sir, we cannot afford to repeat the mistake we've been making with stupid ambassadors. We'd better send out best or quit.

But now the Jews have — for Israel, the only democratic oasis in all the Middle East.

Nasser of Egypt, and other Arab rulers have been unusually quiet about this strengthening of Israel's manpower. Ordinarily there would have been a great howl about it. Had a Western country sent 100,000 persons there the Russians would almost certainly have opposed with all possible excitement of the Arab peoples.

Meanwhile, the Arabs must be puzzled. Not merely they, but others must wonder what it means. Will the Jews of Hungary next be permitted to depart?

It will be a staggering load for Israel to finance. But this cannot have been the reason for the Soviet decision.

There is another aspect of this story.

THE ANTI-SEMITIC psychopaths suddenly have one of their major lies exploded. The Communist government would not make Marxists of the Jews. So, being unable to assimilate them, it let them go.

One is bemused, too, by how swiftly the world has changed. It was not too long ago that Romania of the beautiful British-born Queen Mother Marie and of her Queen Mother Marie and of her playboy son, King Carol, and his mistress Magda Lupescu. This latter lady was in the grand tradition of Du Barry and De Pompadour. Save perhaps, she was more faithful and intelligent.

Romania was a rich country in oil and wheat. Its nobility was unbelievably corrupt, its peasants ruthlessly exploited. Its ruling class was historically anti-Semitic.

There was in those days a favorite story about Romania. "Mania" means madness. "Kleptomania" means madness to steal. "Romania" means madness to steal applied to a nation.

Romania was protected by France. It knew Fascism and steady deterioration as Europe moved toward the second great war. The Soviet armies occupied it. They have never left.

But now the Jews have — for Israel, the only democratic oasis in all the Middle East.

Censorship Fight

By RICHARD SPONG

Ohio Legislature Views Movie Issue

Agitation to revive or strengthen statutes governing censorship of motion pictures is mounting in Maryland, New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. The trade magazine Variety suggests "the greatest battle in film history" may be in the making.

Only four states now have censor boards — Maryland, Virginia, New York and Kansas. In the latter, the legislature killed censorship several years ago and then recanted. A bill to abolish the three-member Board of Review was introduced this month.

Twenty cities censor films. These include such major population areas as Chicago, Atlanta and Memphis. In addition to censorship by prior review or licensing, there is the self-censorship imposed by the Motion Picture Assn. of America through its Production Code Assn.

This last has been weak and seriously in the past few years, in part by the release of independently produced films without a Code seal of approval. The anti-trust decree of 1950 divorcing producers from theater ownership took away from the association a powerful economic weapon for keeping potential violators of the Code in line.

What had appeared to be the beginning of the end for film censorship was the Supreme Court decision of May 1952, upsetting a 1914 concept that motion pictures were outside the 1st and 14th Amendments. The Court ruled specifically that New York State could not ban an Italian film, "The Miracle," on the ground that it was objectionable to Roman Catholics. The court in 1954 held that the standards by which films had been suppressed in New York and Ohio were too vague.

But a bill now before the Ohio legislature would re-establish a censor board. In Maryland the proposal is to classify films, banning offensive ones to "persons under 18 years of age." In New York the move is to have the state censor license "suitable" films in three categories: for "general patronage," for "adults and adolescents," and for "adults only."

These pictures would have to be so described in all advertisements. A companion bill bans all film, advertising material that is "obscene, indecent, immoral, or disgusting, or of such a character that its exhibition would tend to corrupt morals or incite to crime."

The immediate cause for revival of the urge to censor is the tendency of producers, locked in desperate battle with television, to treat adult themes that would have been shunned automatically a decade ago — although the treatment itself cannot always be called adult. Thus to take two extremes, a forthcoming Hollywood film has a major character an obvious homosexual, and a new import from Britain deals with childbirth by artificial insemination.

Both these films can expect trouble from the National Legion of Decency, the 20-year-old Roman Catholic agency which rates motion pictures on moral grounds. By classifying new releases in much the manner as proposed in New York, and publishing these listings, the Roman Catholic Church exercises economic suasion against pictures not up to its standards.

Coffeehouse Church

A fashionable, European-type coffeehouse will be opened by a Washington church in an unusual attempt to "soft sell" religion. There will be no sermons, no collection plates and no church membership cards. Gourmet dishes and exotic coffees will be served at modest prices in an atmosphere designed to stimulate conversation about the eternal issues of life and death.

The unusual venture in traditional evangelism is the idea of the Rev. Newton Gordon Cosby, a 41-year-old minister who, as a chaplain with the 1st Airborne Division was twice awarded the Bronze Star for battlefield action in Normandy and during the 1944 siege at Bastogne.

Last winter, the Rev. Mr. Cosby delivered a guest sermon at what his wife called a "dismal church before a shivering congregation."

Mrs. Cosby said that later, in their hotel room, she and the minister heard from a tavern below happy chatter and juke box melodies.

"If Jesus of Nazareth had his choice," the minister told his wife, "he would probably have come to the tavern rather than to the church we visited."

The Rev. Mr. Cosby's home congregation, the nondenominational Church of the Savior, adopted the idea of giving Washington — basically a city of people away from home — a conversational center where "non-religious" people can ask religious questions, a place of serious talk for those who have "written off" the conventional church.

IN AN INTERVIEW, Mrs. Cosby said the coffeehouse project was designed to show that the church is not an institution removed from life.

"Any place can be a church," she explained. "It is the element of reality that makes it a church. This will be a conversational center to raise real issues. We may not get answers but we hope to raise issues."

Members of the church committee planning the project expect the coffeehouse crowd to include artists, writers and musicians, occupations highly patronized in the past by the church. These skills are represented among the 65 persons who have put in at least a year's study each to become members of the Church of the Savior.

The church members, who study and pray in small fellowship groups, have "totally committed their lives to Christ." Some of them always will be available at the coffeehouse to tell others what their religion has meant to them and to their work.

"We hope to offer programs each evening that will be fun but will also raise issues," the Rev. Mr. Cosby explained. "You can talk about many things that don't sound like religion and are religious. Our purpose is to talk things over because we believe that a person grows in spirit, mind and soul as he communicates with others."

Among the activities being considered are strolling musicians, plays in the round, exhibits by Washington artists and readings of poetry.

THE COMMITTEE is now looking for a suitable place for the coffeehouse that can accommodate between 125 and 150 customers and can remain open from 5 p.m. until 1 or 2 a.m.

Members recently toured eight coffeehouses in New York's Greenwich Village to sample the atmosphere. Mrs. Esther Dorsey, a church member, is enrolled in a hotel school and will leave her government job after 19 years to become manager of the house.

The committee estimates the project will cost $15,000 the first year. Low-cost meat and produce can come from Dayspring, the church's farm in Maryland.

The professional skills of church members are being utilized: Those who are carpenters are building tables, artists are designing place mats, potters are experimenting with special glazes for the china, interior decorators are designing the settings with the Christian symbol of the fish as a theme.

The emphasis on good food and drink in the project, Mrs. Cosby said, has a biblical precedent. "In most of Jesus' dealings with the disciples," she said, "you find they were gathered around food."

If the international set in black tie or tails comes to the coffeehouse looking exclusively for good food and coffee columbina, they won't be turned away. But, Mrs. Cosby said, "we are not just opening an eating place. We hope those who are searching for real life and real conversation will find it."

Others, Mrs. Cosby added, will weed themselves out, probably with a shout, "for goodness sake, let me out of here." North American Newspaper Alliance

Matter of Fact

In 1797, Robert Fulton, already a well-known inventor, went to Paris to continue his work with Robert Livingston, who at the time was U.S. minister to France. In Paris, Fulton developed the Nautilus, an underwater boat which could shoot torpedoes and could be driven while under water. The idea of submarine craft at that time seemed so absurd that he could not interest any nation in his startling invention.

Chinese Reds Attend Classes After Day's Labor in Fields

By DR. SRIPATI CHANDRASEKHAR
Copyright, 1959,
By The Associated Press

Hard work is the order of the day in the Chili Yin people's commune which I visited during my travels in Red China. The evening brings a dash of recreation — and large doses of Communist training.

After the day's toil in the fields and factories of this pioneer commune in Honan province, all attend regular classes. There they listen to the radio, which pours out the latest editorial from the People's Daily, the latest production figures from agriculture and industry, the latest government measures to liquidate American "imperialism" and the "Chiang Kai-shek clique," the Peiping opera, and figures on how China has surpassed Britain in the production of various industrial goods.

Then there is a movie or a play or an acrobatic show. And last is the party meeting, which every worker attends. Here the matchless art of self-criticism is practiced.

People rise up and confess their drawbacks and failings, criticize their colleagues and swear to increase production if only to "regain" Formosa, the island bastion of the Nationalist Chinese.

This commune which I have described is popularly called "The Commune of 16 Guarantees." Everybody, according to the age group and sex of the individual, is given 16 guarantees. They are:

1. Clothing which is still a problem because of the cold climate. (Heating is poor); 2. Food; 3. Housing; 4. Transportation (from residence to place of work); 5. Maternity benefits. Expectant mothers are given 45 days' leave and a quantity of red-sugar, which is a must for expectant mothers in China. 6. Sickness leave and free medical aid.

7. Free old-age care; 8. Free funeral and burial. The director of the commune told me that they would like to give up burial for cremation but the people were prejudiced in favor of traditional interment. So they are adopting what is now called "deep burial." The body is buried at least 10 feet deep so that they can use the land, which otherwise might be a graveyard, for orchards.

9. Free education; 10. A small marriage grant and a free reception for the couple; 11. Twelve free haircuts a year; 12. Twenty free bath tickets a year (hot water-baths); 13. Free bringing up of children; 14. Free recreation; 15. Free tailoring; 16. Free electricity.

Communist party Chairman Mao Tse-tung had hoped that the whole nation would become one big commune in a few years, but there seemed to be some doubt and resistance among the leaders themselves. Time alone can tell what lies ahead for China and the loved the hat. Applause turned into laughter. Macmillan grinned with pleasure and put his hat back on.

Khrushchev

Khrushchev arrived at the airport eight minutes before Macmillan's Comet four-jet plane touched down two minutes ahead of schedule.

He gave Macmillan a cordial greeting in an impressive setting. A honor guard of officers — their swords shimmering in the sun light — stood smartly at attention and a military band blared the Soviet and British anthems.

Khrushchev walked with Macmillan in reviewing the guard.

A troop of Soviet soldiers dressed in greatcoats, gray fur hats and carrying rifles paraded shouting "Rah, rah" in a greeting to the visitors.

Khrushchev said in welcoming Macmillan that the Soviet Union "believes in peaceful co-existence among different social systems and the lines of that policy remain unchanged."

"We are happy to welcome those who come here from abroad to have talks for the benefit of both our countries and of the cause of peace the world over," he said. "Welcome, gentlemen."

The Soviet leader added "we are a country now embarked on a great building program and we do not want war again. That would be violating the purposes of such a program."

From the moment Macmillan left London he emphasized that his mission was primarily to look and listen rather than to reach any agreements.

"I am not going to negotiate—I have no authority for that," the Macmillan 64, told newsmen in London just before boarding a Comet IV jetliner.

"I certainly am not going to try to search out secrets. We are going to search out the hearts and minds of the Russian leaders to see how far we can make contact with them."

Macmillan carried with him gifts for Khrushchev, but they were a well kept secret.

The British statesman seemed in a cautiously optimistic mood. He said:

"I don't know how much success we will have,—we will certainly try. Of this I am sure, though: personal talks and contacts are very valuable in international life today."

Western diplomats here are not looking for any firm decisions—or sweeping new proposals—to come out of the talks in which British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd will take part.

There was a widespread feeling here however, that frank discussions could help eliminate any false ideas either side may have of the other's position.

Germany—and particularly Berlin—stood out as the immediate pressing issue to be dealt with but the two leaders are expected to cover the whole range of East-West international differences.

Soviet newspapers this morning welcomed Macmillan's visit, which Macmillan sought himself at this time as a "reconnaissance mission."

The communist party organ Pravda said the two great powers "could make an important joint contribution to the solution of important international problems."

"economic development is an objective of cooperation between nations."

This probably means Mexico will get some financial aid from the United States or international agencies.

Eisenhower had hoped to stop off at Augusta, Ga., first for a week end of golf. But after apparently receiving reports in flight that the Georgia weather still was too cold, windy and wet for golf he had his personal plane, Columbine III, head for Washington.

In 20 degree weather he stepped down the ramp at the MATS terminal and was greeted by Acting Secretary of State Christian A. Herter.

Eisenhower wore a brown overcoat but no muffer. His face was ruddy in the cold morning air.

Caught In the Economic Cycle

It's Your Pocketbook

By FAYE HENLE
(NEA Staff Writer)

When spring comes rolling round, what kind of a case will David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America, have for seeking higher pay for his union members?

I've given considerable thought to this because I'm certain that if McDonald wins, you and I will lose.

If McDonald declares this pay increase is needed to keep pace with higher living costs, he is wrong, according to figures compiled by the American Iron & Steel Institute.

The consumer price index now stands some 106 per cent above the 1940 level. Adjusting wages on a scale comparable to the price index, the institute says that steel workers' average pay is 250 per cent greater than it was in 1940.

If McDonald tells us that this pay increase is needed because his workers are not being sufficiently compensated for their per manpower output, he's wrong.

ON A PRODUCTIVITY BASIS,

300 East State St., Salem, O.

the institute's figures show that since 1940 the steel industry's total employment cost has risen 10 times as fast as have the shipment of finished steel per hour of work.

If McDonald thinks that the pay of his members can be increased without lifting the pay of workers in other industries, he's wrong.

When steelworkers—or automobile workers or electrical workers or any other major group—get higher pay, everyone wants a raise. Enough raises and up goes the cost of living.

When this happens some 44 million workers or 10 per cent of all nonagricultural workers get additional pennies in their pay envelopes because their wage contracts contain what are called escalator clauses—a promise of more money when prices rise.

WHAT HAPPENS THEN is that the higher pay and higher living costs just about cancel each other out for those workers, but for the remaining 90 per cent of us each dollar we earn buys less.

McDonald's thesis that higher wages equal more spending power holds no water. And, as wage costs rise, business has three alternatives:

It can raise prices to meet higher wage costs. But as I've just said, those extra dollars of pay won't provide you with more goods or services. In fact, higher prices usually provide us with less.

It can try to absorb the higher costs. Frequently this is done by cheapening a product line, by limiting research, by cutting pennies all along the line, by a tightening of belts.

Or, it can go all out and cut costs by curtailing expansion, deferring any modernization that might not immediately boost productivity. In general, cost-cutting means pulling belts in all the way. Workers are laid off. Marginal companies—those not making enough money—shut down. Usually a combination of these three factors is felt simultaneously. As prices rise and the cost of living and doing business increases, consumer and business spending slows, government deficits mount. Workers laid off by one company find it difficult to be re-employed. We had a sharp taste of this type of an economic cycle in the 1957-58 recession. Can we forget so soon?

GAY TURNCOAT — This coat, designed for travel, is textured turquoise silk on one side, black on the other. It is shown with turquoise side out. Because women like to change their clothes as well as their moods, this coat, like many spring suits, is designed to be worn right or wrong side out.

Who said there is no such thing as juvenile delinquency?

Look at the record! Millions of boys and girls under twenty-one in trouble with the police—dope traffic among teen-agers—organized crime by minors.

But this is not always juvenile delinquency. This is often the tragedy of ADULT DELINQUENCY. It is frequently the result of neglect, indifference, and lack of Christian training in our homes. It is the failure of parents that has led to the wreckage of many of these young lives.

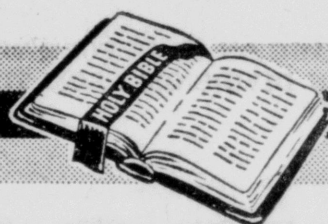

Bring your child to Sunday School and Church. Give him the spiritual care that he wants and needs. Remember, Mother and Dad, we cannot always say, "juvenile delinquency." Be sure it is not your failure which may cause your child to ruin his life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Pike Tallies 35 As Blue Devils Top Leetonia 68-55

Radler of Bears Hits 19 Points

Both Clubs Set To Enter Tournaments

By HARRY SAVAGE

Lisbon's sensational Bob Pike poured 35 points through the nets Friday night, to lead the Blue Devils to a hard-earned 68-55 victory over a green Leetonia quintet on the losers' floor. The 5'11 senior hit 15 goals and five free throws to record his personal high for the season. Pike has scored a total of 66 points in his last two ball games.

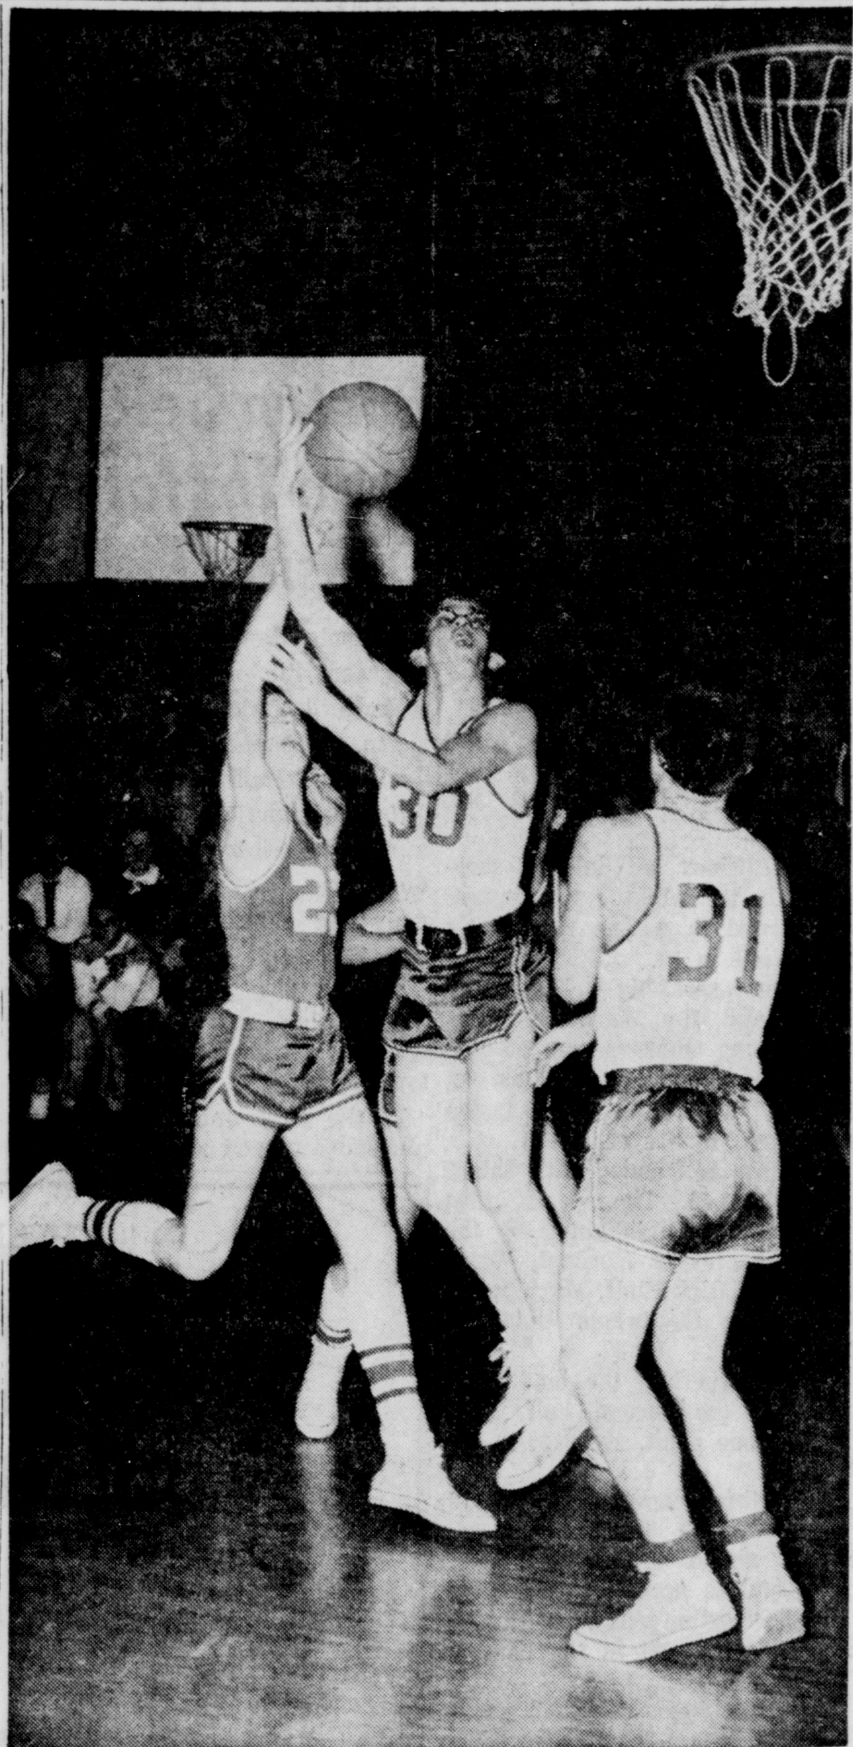

Jack Mills' squad raced to a 41-22 halftime margin and held off a second half rally by the Bears to preserve the victory. Lisbon ended their season with seven victories and 10 defeats. Leetonia's sophomore and junior student club ended regular season play with a 3-15 mark.

The Bears will enter the Class A sectional tournament at Canton and will play their first tournament game on Thursday, Friday or Saturday (according to the draw which will be held the first of next week). Lisbon will be in the Class AA sectional at Struthers.

Pike exhibited a near-perfect touch on his one-hander in Friday's contest and Leetonia decided to let him score rather than double-team him. In the first half Pike scored 19 points as the Devils grabbed a decisive lead. At the start of the second half, however, Lee Radler of the Bears put the clamps on the Lisbon hot-shot and Leetonia began to narrow the gap. Len Batcha's Bears pulled to within seven points at 52-45, early in the final eight minutes, but at this point Radler fouled out and Pike started to open up again.

RADLER LED THE LEETONIA scoring with 19 points. Chuck Lippiatt and Gene Leffler each tallied 14 for the Bears. Ronnie Lee was the only Lisbon player besides Pike in double figures. Lee scored 10 points.

A total of 50 fouls were called in the ballgame. Lisbon was charged with 28 personal fouls, while Leetonia was called on 20 personals and two technicals. The Bears converted on 19 out of 33 attempts from the line and the Blue Devils hit 18 of 31 from the charity stripe. Four players fouled out of the wild-and-wooly contest.

Lippiatt hit the first bucket of the contest to give the Bears an early 2-0 lead. Big Charles Faust countered with a layup for the Devils but Lippiatt stole the ball seconds later and hit a bunny to make it Leetonia 4, Lisbon 2. This proved to be the last time in the contest that the Bears had the lead. Chal Thorne tallied on a follow-up shot and Denny Reese game most of the Leetonia scoring punch was gone. The Bears kept fighting, but they were unable to capitalize on their aggressiveness and Lisbon began to slowly widen the margin.

The Blue Devils stretched the gap to 60-50 with about four and a half minutes remaining. With two and a half minutes to play Lisbon led 66-52 and the game was in the bag. Two free throws by Leffler with a minute left made the score 66-55, but Reese and Dick Early canned charity tosses to make the final Lisbon 68, Leetonia 55.

Lisbon also won the junior varsity contest, tripping the Leetonia reserves 46-35. Bob Gullett of the Bears led both teams with 12 points. Paul Fry hit 11 and Dick Early 10 to pace the Devils.

Fullmer Cops Decision Over Wilfie Greaves

NEW ORK (AP) — Gene Fullmer, a majority decision winner over Wilfie Greaves, wants the New York State Athletic Commission to vacate Sugar Ray Robinson's world middleweight title.

Mary Jensen, Fullmer's manager, has written a letter to the commission asking that a match between Gene and Carmen Basilio or any other middleweight receive sanction as a championship bout.

"We want to fight Basilio for the title in New York," said Jensen Friday night after Fullmer had won his Madison Square Garden match with Greaves, a willing young Canadian. "Basilio is No. 1. Gene is No. 2 and he has licked Spider Webb the best of the rest."

Robinson hasn't fought since he regained the crown from Basilio March 25, 1958 at Chicago. The normal six-month period of grace expired long ago. Robinson has been talking of fighting Archie Moore for the light heavy championship before he defends his 160-pound title.

Fullmer had his hands full with Greaves, a rough and ready youngster from Edmonton, Alberta. The ex-champ was able to bull his man and scored heavily with right hand punches to the body. One official, Judge Nick Gam, bolted though it was even 5-5 in rounds and 5-5 in points. Judge Jack Gordon scored it 6-4 and Referee Harry Kessler 5-4, both for Fullmer. The AP card was Fullmer 6-4.

Fireside Inn Bows To Herron's 64-47

Herron Transfer defeated Fireside Inn 64-47 Friday night at the Memorial Building to win the second half championship of the Monday Division of the City Basketball League.

As a result, Herron's will play Mark's Landing (first half winner in a best of three contests which will begin Monday at 7 p.m.) at the Memorial Building to determine the Monday Division champion.

The playoffs will continue Wednesday night and Thursday if necessary.

Also on those evenings Farmers National Bank will go against Bennett's Greenhouse for the Wednesday Division title.

The championship playoffs between the two division winners will be held March 2 and 4 and, if necessary, March 5.

Auburn, boasting the longest winning streak in the nation, jumps head first into the lions' den tonight against Kentucky the still-powerful defending NCAA basketball champions.

The game will be at Lexington, Ky., the Wildcats' home grounds and a court that has gobbled up no fewer than 188 opponents over the past 16 years. Kentucky has dropped only six games on its home floor in that stretch.

Auburn's winning streak stands at 30, but the Tigers have no place to go to show it off when the regular season ends because they are on NCAA probation.

Kentucky, which was tumbled off the No. 1 perch in the weekly Associated Press poll last week after losing to Mississippi State, still has a chance to make the NCAA tournament. But the Wildcats must lick Auburn or they are doomed.

Both the Big 10 and the Ivy League could go a long way toward determining their champions — although neither can be clinched mathematically.

In the Big 10, Michigan State could all but wrap it up by beating dangerous Purdue. If all goes well from a Spartan standpoint — meaning an Illinois victory over Indiana and a Northwestern triumph over Michigan — then Michigan State would be assured of at least a tie for the crown.

As for the Ivies, the two big boys of the loop, defending champion Dartmouth and co-favorite Princeton, come to grips. Each shows a 10-0 record in league play and is eyeing the almost-certain at-large berth in the NCAA tournament that goes to the Ivy king.

Dartmouth looked just about ready for the show-down battle Friday night. The Hanover Indians sailed past Penn, 73-57, while Princeton had to come from behind to lick Harvard, 61-56.

The Southern Conference just about finished operations before the league tournament, Virginia

Hole Collection To Be Shown In June.

As a public service, we have been punching extra holes in the belts of Salem's lucky men who lose weight. We, of course, do not charge for this service, but we do take possession of the hole piece. Being of Scotch parentage, I found it quite impossible to throw away these holes and began my collection.

With the U.S. employment situation what it is today, and the consequent decrease in the American birth, our collection should reach a sufficient magnitude by June to warrant a public showing of this rare collection.

REVIEW IS REFUSED

LANSING, Mich (AP) — The Michigan Supreme Court has refused to review its decision granting 11,000 Ford Motor Co. employees in the Detroit area about one million dollars in jobless pay benefits. They were idle in 1953 as a result of a strike at Ford's forging plant in Canton, Ohio.

It's a strange pupil who is as anxious to hurry to school as he is to hurry home.

at the home of Dana Notman on March 16.

LESIE ALLEN will be the disc jockey when the Sebring American auxiliary holds a record hop on Saturday for the teenagers.

Gail Carnes was one of six McKinley High School students to be placed in the top 25 per cent of Mahoning County Seniors in general scholarship tests given by the State Department of Education. Plans for a teen-age record hop on Feb. 27 were made when the Smith Juvenile Grange met. Twenty five members and several guests were present. After the meeting they all took part in the Grange's Booster night activities.

Plans to dedicate the new addition of the Smith Grange Hall were made at their Booster Night Meeting. Booster Night is to activities and try to get new members. Attorney John Reddy, lecturer, was in charge. Leslie Allen served as disc jockey for dancing and Mr. and Mrs. Russel Oesch served refreshments. The next meeting will be held March 2.

THE BELOIT PTA will celebrate Founders Day at the meeting on Monday night. The PTA is having its 62nd birthday this year. The Boy Scouts of Pack 82 and the Cub Scouts will have the opening and closing exercises. Kenneth Strawn, field representative, will present the charters to the scouts. Mrs. Harold Behner and Mrs. Burton Bowersock will be in charge of the lunch in keeping with the birthday celebration.
